FORCE IS TO BE AMPLE

Dr Anderson Tells Chief to Enlist as Many Special Officers as are Necessary

In a communication of Chief of Police Webber this morning Mayor Wendell A. Anderson directed the police department to take whatever steps are necessary to preserve a reasonable degree of sanity in the celebration of the Fourth in this city. The particular annoyance and dangers which the mayor seeks to avoid are specified in the communication, which follows:

"Mr. John B. Webber, Chief of Police, La Crosse, Wis.:

"Dear Sir: As long as the sale of explosives for use on the Fourth of July by the young people, is sanctioned or permitted by law, the danger to life and property will continue and the authorities be expected to make efforts to minimize the dangers.

"I have to suggest, therefore, that you give public notice that no unusual noise or disturbance will be permitted in the vicinity of the hospitals. The same rule will apply to localities where anyone is reported by physicians as being sick and liable to be injuriously affected from the same cause. The secretary of the City Medical society has been requested to have you informed where there are any of the latter class. Strict orders should be given prohibiting the use of all explosives in alleys and back yards. Let their use be limited to the vacant lots, parks and streets. By streets is meant the roadway, so that annoyance and danger to pedestrians on the sidewalks may be avoided. You will, of course, employ as many special officers as are deemed necessary in the different sections of the city.

"Yours respectfully,
"WENDELL A. ANDERSON,
"Mayor."

It was stated at the city hall today that the police have been cautioned to rightly interpret the "Fourth," which means the period from 12 o'clock p. m., July 3rd, to the same hour July 4th.

Stress is laid on the preservation of quiet in the vicinity of hospitals, and pursuant to the purpose of protecting invalids the mayor had previously notified the secretary of the medical association that if physicians would notify the police of the location of all homes in which there is sickness, officers would be detailed to maintain order in their vicinity. The order recites particularly that explosives must be fired in the streets, meaning the roadbed in distinction from the sidewalks, and this is taken to include a prohibition against the use of explosive canes and torpedoes on the walks.

That the authorities propose to enforce the rules laid down is evidenced by the fact that the mayor's order directs Chief Webber to detail as many special police as is necessary to the execution of the order.

IT WILL BE PLAIN "MR. TAFT" AT CLOSE OF BUSINESS TODAY

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.—Taft began his last official day early, and took up anew the task of turning over the affairs of the department to his successor, Gen. Luke Wright. He spent most of the morning explaining the details of the Panama canal and the situation in Cuba. At midnight Secretary Taft will be plain Mr. Taft. Gen. Wright will be formally installed tomorrow morning, after which Taft will be present at a special reception to the men with whom Wright will come in contact.

TEDDY AT PICNIC

OYSTER BAY, June 30.—President Roosevelt and family are attending a picnic today on the shore of the sound at Lloyd's Neck. This is one of the hottest days of the summer here, the thermometer reaching 90 before noon. No visitors are expected at Sagamore Hill during the day.

FATAL HEAT IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 30.—With a total of seven dead from heat in the last 24 hours there are indications that the list will be added to today. The hospitals are overcrowded with prostrations, and New York is today suffering the worst torrid wave of the summer, with no relief in sight.

BISHOP POTTER IS NEARDEATH TODAY

VENERABLE PRELATE SUFFERS FROM COMPLICATION

OXYGEN IS ADMINISTERED

Family is at Bedside and He is Making a Brave Fight; Episcopal Bishop of Diocese of New York

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., June 30.

—With his wife and other members of his family at his bedside, Bishop Henry Potter today is fighting death. Only the constant administration of oxygen keeps him alive. He is suffering from liver and stomach complaint, aggravated by the intense heat.

Bishop Potter was born at Schenectady, New York state, on May 25,

Bishop Henry C. Potter.

1835. He was educated in Philadelphia and at the Theological Seminary of Virginia. He has been the Protestant Episcopal bishop of the diocese of New York since 1887. He began his ministry as rector of Christ church at Greenburg, Va. He has written many widely read books on theological and sociological subjects, and has been granted the signal honor of the degree of doctor of divinity by both the great English Universities of Cambridge and Oxford.

FIREWORKS IGNITES AT STORE FRONT

A little celebration took place on Main street this morning when a man dropped his cigar, accidentally, into the fireworks displayed in front of the La Crosse News company's shop.

The first warning was when a monster sky rocket went whizzing up the street and cut a circle in front of Adam Forscher's cigar store. This was followed by a series of explosions and "nigger chasers," ignited by the sparks, proceeded to chase everyone on the sidewalks into doorways. Some of the older people displayed athletic ability in dodging spinning wheels that would have been a credit to those much younger.

After a little more damage had been done, the fire was extinguished. No one was injured and the building was not damaged, the only loss being the fire works.

SUFFRAGETTES NOW ENTERTAIN LONDON

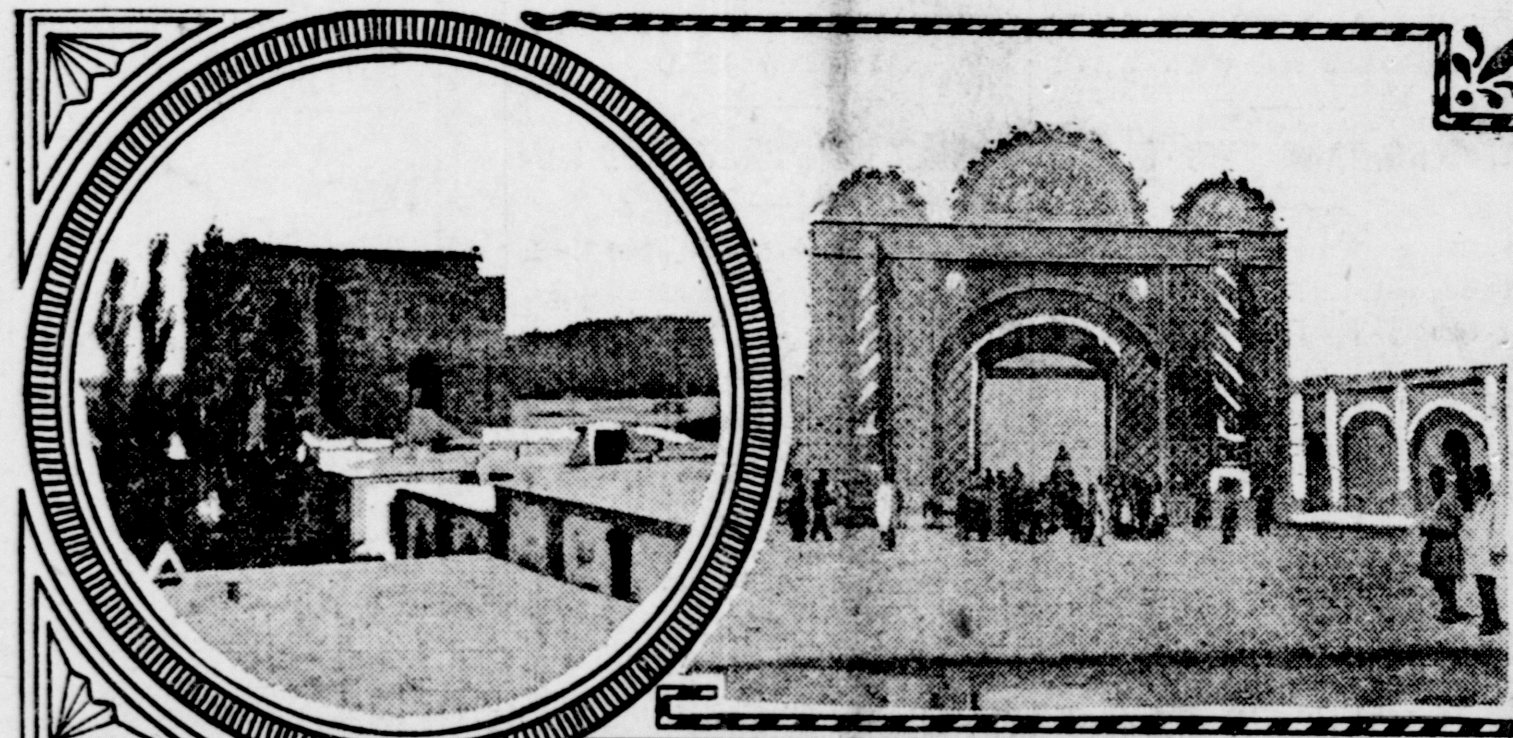

LONDON, June 30.—Ten thousand sight seers watched the demonstration of the suffragettes around the house of commons this afternoon which is preliminary to a still bigger affair scheduled for tonight. The women met at Caxton hall, adjacent to the house of commons. They named a committee of thirteen to call on Premier Asquith. Everything went well until Asquith sent word he would not see them, when the women became loud and wordy. Crowds jeered the women, which didn't improve their tempers, while some pelted them with cabbage and ancient eggs. In anticipation of a serious outbreak tonight 10,000 extra policemen have been sworn in.

MRS. MOORE HEADS WOMEN.

BOSTON, June 30.—Mrs. Phillip N. Moore of St. Louis is elected president of the Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. Moore defeated Mrs. May Allen Ward, of Boston, her only opponent, by a vote of 516 to 390.

The fight for president was one of the hottest contests for leadership which has marked the organization of the 800,000 club women of the country. All New England and the middle states voted almost solidly for Mrs. Ward, excepting the Delaware delegates. The support of the central west and most of the Pacific states gave the St. Louis woman her majority.

SCENES IN TEHERAN AND SHAH WHO BOMBARDED IT

ROW IN TEHERAN CAUSED 800 DEATHS

The internal troubles of Teheran, the little Persian province just south of the Caspian, have attracted attention because of the drastic measures used by the shah to suppress the revolt. Days and nights of fighting, with deaths of hundreds of the "reformers" have marked the progress of the row, the list being estimated at not less than 800.

In subjugating the insurrectionists the shah did not hesitate to turn his artillery upon rebellion infected sections of the beautiful city, and fully one-third of the splendid place was demolished before the ruler concluded that the "lesson had been taught."

Trouble involving the powers was threatened after the fighting, when England peremptorily notified the Persian ruler that political prisoners he had thrown into dungeons must be liberated, or at least treated with humanity. The threatened clash, however, has been averted for the time.

MURDER JOB OF SOCIETY PEOPLE

SENSATION IN PHILADELPHIA OVER UNFORTUNATE CASE

MALPRACTITIONER IS VICTIM

Following Death of Hapless Sister Brother and Sister Poison Society "Doctor"

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—The arrest of a young man and woman, rich and prominent in society here, is expected today as a sequel to the poisoning by cyanide of potassium of Dr. Wm. H. Wilson, who died after drinking part of a bottle of ale sent him by express. Two persons about whom the police have woven an almost complete fabric of evidence are brother and sister. Dr. Wilson, it is believed, was the operator on another sister, who died, and her relatives crazed by grief, yet dreading the scandal to follow the prosecution of the physician, are believed to have determined on vengeance by the secret method which killed the man they hated.

Though Dr. Wilson had been living for more than twelve years in the house where he drank the fatal poison, he never put out a physician's sign and was not known in a general sense as a practitioner. Withal he had a large clientele, made up mostly, the police officials assert, of prominent women, and it is declared by the coroner and the police authorities that he made an affluent living as a practitioner. The police officials have learned, they state, that Dr. Wilson was blamed for the death of a member of the family of a young man who will be charged with being the poisoner. The death, it is alleged, caused the young man to brood until he could no longer contain himself, when he sought to put an end to the physician's practices by sending him poison rather than go into court and have his family history exposed to the world.

The bottle which contained the death dealing beverage had been sent by express to the physician's house three days before he opened it, by a man and woman, the police assert, who, actuated by revenge and hatred, deliberately plotted to destroy him, his wife and his beautiful 5 year old daughter, Vera.

Circular Deceives Victim.

To throw their victim off his guard the couple suspected of having murdered him previously sent a fraudulent circular letter signed by a well known Philadelphia brewing firm in which it was stated that a bottle of ale valuable for its medicinal properties was being forwarded to him as a token of the profession in general.

IS A PRE-ELECTION STRIKE AT HAND?

UNIONS WITH 250,000 MEMBERS TALK ANGRILY

"WAIT 'TIL AFTER NOVEMBER"

They Say They Will Not Again Be Put Off With This Old "Gag" and Will Strike

CHICAGO, June 30.—A general strike of all the railway employees is being agitated by radical leaders among the freight handlers. Throughout the entire country the proposition for the members of this union, the warehousemen, clerks, switchmen, firemen and engineers, to tie up the railroad systems of the country by a strike is being discussed, according to radicals, as a political expedient. All that is needed, they say, is a sharp refusal by the democratic convention to consider the anti-injunction plank offered to and turned down by the republicans.

President P. J. Flannery, of the Freight Handlers, today said: "The railroads are playing a political game to get us where they can whip us into line. The managers have made many promises, and kept none of them; they 'stall' us with the usual presidential year 'con' about 'wait until after November.' We will not wait and unless the companies do something more than promise within the next few days they are liable to have a strike on their hands."

The membership of the bodies concerned will total 250,000.

WATER COMMITTEE MEETING. A special meeting has been called for Thursday night of the committee on water to take up matters referred from the last meeting of the council.

Winona Boat Taken to Factory for Installation of Powerful Engine and "Skip" Said to Be Corker

At least two La Crosse boats will participate in the motor boat races at Lake City, north of here, on July 4th. The Winona boat owned by Buel and Smaile of this city has been taken to Winona, where a powerful engine is to be installed in preparation for the race.

E. P. Gleason's "Skip," the fast Red Wing boat, has been at the factory all spring undergoing repairs, and it is said when the "Skip" comes into the race at Lake City there will be some surprises in store for the contestants in the way of speed.

Boats from all along the upper river will be entered in the race, which is expected to be one of the fastest and best ever pulled off on the upper river. L. W. Abrams, who is contemplating building a boat factory on the north side, will have a new 35 foot, 56 inch beam boat entered. This racer is equipped with four cylinders, but its owners are mum on the amount of horsepower developed.

In the races at Lake City last year the "Skip," easily the fastest in the entries, lost out owing to an accident to the machinery, and the race was taken by the Chief of Records, a Winona craft.

Fight on Thompson, Foe of Trust, May Result in Election of the Nomininee Educator

CLEVELAND, June 30.—The fight of the American Book company, known as the "Book Trust," to defeat President W. O. Thompson, of the Ohio state university, for the presidency of the N. E. A., is absorbing the interest of the members. The nominating committee will report to the convention at noon tomorrow. If the committee turns down Thompson, the fight will be taken to the floor. The other announced candidates are J. H. Phillips, of Birmingham, and L. D. Harvey, of Menominee, Wis.

Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska, Ohio and Missouri have instructed for Thompson, who is known as a relentless foe to the "trust."

The association is divided into departments today listening to papers, largely technical, from leading educators of the country. The method of educating Indians was handled without gloves by President G. Stanley Hall, of Clark university, Worcester, Mass., in the department of Indian education.

SHIPS THAT WANTED TO FLY FROM HERE NOW AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 30.—Six of the eleven balloons entered in the international race to start here Saturday are already in the city and will be ready for the flight. They are the Chicago, Cincinnati, United States (of Minneapolis), America (of St. Paul), Flying (of San Antonio), and Ville de Dieppe. The last is the French entry. All the big bags are at Aero Park, ready for inflation.

SAY "REBELS" ARE BUT BANDIT BANDS

DALLAS, Tex., June 30.—Business men here put little faith in the reports of a great uprising in Mexico, for although this city loses thousands of dollars of business with the supposed affected region every month, not a word of definite information regarding an actual revolt has been received. If a genuine revolution were afoot Dallas men feel sure the financial institutions and numerous industries would know it. "The events of the last few days are regarded as nothing more serious than looting raids by border bandit bands."

"Rebels" in Flight.

MEXICO CITY, June 30.—Advices today from Tlaxcala state that General Juan N. Duran, commanding the Tenth regiment of Mexican soldiers, has dispatched a force in pursuit of a band of 100 revolutionists located in the mountains near Galita, and that four of the revolutionists have been captured. The prisoners declare the band scattered when the troops approached.

U. S. Troops Move

SAN ANTONIO, June 30.—Two companies of the Third cavalry were dispatched today by Gen. Meyer to the border to assist in preventing the Mexican revolutionists from crossing into Texas. They are bound for Del Rio.

COURT ENJOINS THE INTERSTATE BOARD

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 30.—The federal circuit court today granted a temporary injunction against the interstate commission restraining it from enforcing an order reducing the Chicago terminal charges from $2 to $1 per car. The court holds $1 unreasonably low. The injunction was granted on application of various Chicago roads who transfer livestock from their terminal over the tracks of the Chicago union stock yards, Chicago.

FARE RAISED; BLOW UP TRACK

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 30.—The tracks of the Joplin and Pittsburgh Railway company at Chicopee switch were blown up by dynamiters last night. The trouble is the outcome of feeling against the railway company because of a raise of fares.

PLAN 70 MILE SWIMMING RACE

KANSAS CITY, June 30.—Carl Kurtz, the Lawrence swimmer, came here today to make arrangements for a swimming race with Charles B. Harling in the Kaw river from Lawrence to Kansas City July 4. The distance by river is seventy miles. Kurtz estimates it will require 25 hours to swim the distance.

BATTLE ON BRYAN NOW DUE TO BEGIN

ALTON B. PARKER TO LEAD THE "CONSERVATIVES"

THE BRYAN MEN SMILE

SAY THIS FIGHT WILL BE SHORT AND SHARP ONE

CONTESTS ARE NOW IN SIGHT

Fifth Seats in Convention Will be Contested Monday—Bryan Silent on Vice President

LINCOLN, Neb., June 30.—The local committee of the Traveling Men's Bryan club are actively preparing for Friday's banquet in honor of Bryan. The "Farmer of Fairview," will be the last speaker on the program, and will deliver the genuine keynote speech of the campaign. What Bryan says will be a tip for the resolutions committee at Denver for platform moulding purposes. It's been pretty well settled that Bryan will be waited on by the notification committee at Fairview.

DENVER, Col., June 30.—With the arrival here tomorrow of former Judge Alton B. Parker of New York, the conservatives who are saying they will block Bryan's will in the democratic committee on resolutions, will inaugurate their campaign.

The Bryanites here declare that the hue and cry for a "conservative" platform comes from interests that have always been "anti-Bryan," and claim that the leaders cannot hold their delegates against an appeal from Bryan for support. However, discussion of the question has disturbed the harmony program and the prospect of a real old fashioned democratic scrap seemingly pleased all hands. Parker will have the support of the members of the resolutions committee from New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Colorado in the initial fight, and it is claimed other states will join as soon as they discover how radical the Bryan policies are. The Bryan followers declare the fight will be short and sharp, resulting in the utter rout of the opposition. In order to clinch the victory the Bryan leaders have sent telegrams to delegates from leading states urging them to stop at Lincoln before the convention, and discuss the matter with Bryan himself.

The Bryanites generally are making capital out of the visit to Lincoln yesterday of Judge Joshua Marvel of Delaware and J. R. Beamish of Philadelphia, who are enroute here to open headquarters for Judge Gray. They argue it shows the Gray managers realize that Bryan isn't alone the leader of the party, but is in a position to dispose of many vexing problems.

The Johnson managers will arrive tonight with the Minnesota boom

A Simple Test Which Any Reader of This Paper May Try

Do you know whether you are inclined to, or have kidney trouble? Have you ever tried the simple test of setting aside your urine in a bottle or vessel for twenty-four hours? A sediment or settling in the urine indicates a diseased condition.

Science has today furnished proofs that all the purifying that your blood needs; in fact, all that can be done, must be done by your kidneys. They are the most important organs, because they filter and purify the blood.

The kidneys strain or filter out the impurities in the blood—that is their work.

When your blood is impure, nothing can purify it but your kidneys. To overcome these troubles take Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the world-famous kidney remedy. In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that has yet been discovered.

If you mention our paper and write Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle, they will send it free by mail—it will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys.

MURPHY TO HEAD YALE NINE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 30.—Fred Murphy, Yale's left fielder, has been announced as captain of the nine for next season. His home is in Westboro, Mass., and he is a nephew of Mike Murphy, the former Yale coach and Dr. William Murphy, the former Yale baseball captain.

If you will make inquiry it will be a revelation to you how many succumb to kidney or bladder troubles in one form or another. If the patient is not beyond medical aid, Foley's Kidney Cure will cure. It never disappoints. O. T. Erhart.

GANS TRAINS FOR HEAVY HITTING

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 30.—Champion Joe Gans did his last boxing yesterday before he meets Battling Nelson in their forty-five round fight at Colma on the afternoon of July 4. He went four lively rounds with Jack O'Keefe.

Gans throughout his training has cultivated strength and endurance and has cut out all boxing. This has been criticised by many sports, but Joe's reasons are sound. He said today: "What is the use of my boxing to meet a man like Nelson who can't box and who is no judge of distance? All I want is strength to punch him good when he rushes in."

Certainly Joe has taken plenty of this kind of exercise as he puts in about an hour every day punching the big sand bag. Gans weighed today 134 3-4 pounds, which will make it easy for him to get to 133 ringside.

Nelson put in a strenuous day at San Rafael before a big crowd. He boxed several four round matches and showed he was in great form. He claims to feel better and stronger than for many months. He is confident he can wear Gans down and then beat him.

CHARGES TAKING BRIBES.

KENOSHA, Wis., June 30.—Something of a stir has been caused in official circles by the receipt of anonymous letters from Chicago by the local newspapers in which a man signing himself "Detective" offers to furnish evidence of wholesale bribery in Kenosha. It is alleged that several of the members of the common council and at least one city official of high standing were connected with the acceptance of bribes. The man demands $2,000 for his evidence. An effort may be made to discover the writer.

Too many men measure importance by the standard of chest expansion.

ONE INNING SUFFICIENT TO DEFEAT WAUSAU

Seven to three in favor of La Crosse against Wausau is quite satisfactory. With eight hits and an error in one inning Hawley's bunch scrambled around the diamond until they had seven men over the plate, and then if they had not grown anxious about getting Bues over the plate there would have been more to come.

Eberle and Dooner, with war paint and feathers, started things off and for the first two innings it looked as though there was going to be a pretty battle, but in the third inning the Colts got busy and before the ambulance arrived they had pegged seven scores on the rack. Every Colt, with the exception of Becker, took a swat at the ball in that fatal inning. Bondy started with a pretty drive over shortstop. Then Killian took a swat at the ball and with the assistance of an error by Brady both runners were safe. Eberle bagged a hit and the bases were full. Duchien then appeared before Dooner and the first one over was sent to mid-field and Bond crossed the plate. Tracey then helped things along and pounded the ball out, scoring Killian and Eberle. Safford picked out a nice one and sent it past third, scoring Duchien and sending Tracey to second. Here was some thing out of the ordinary. Tracey was leading off at second when Erickson sent the ball through the air like a bullet and caught Tracey at second. With only one out and Graves at bat, another hit was secured and Safford went to second. Becker hit a grounder and in attempting to get Safford at third everybody was called safe. Bues then came to the front and with a two-bagger over the third sack sent Safford and Graves across the plate. Bond then appeared for the second time that inning, but failed to get the ball where he wanted it and as a result it went up in the air, an easy out for Gardner. Killian took another hit and sent Graves in for the seventh score. Eberle was at bat and Killian started to steal second. Erickson threw to second and when Bues started home the ball came flying back to Erickson and in a foot race the latter on out over Bues and the side was retired. Eberle "firing" his bat in disgust at getting beat out of a second hit that inning.

After the third inning Dooner tightened up and for the remainder of the game pitched in grand form and allowed but one hit, this coming in the eighth inning with two out. Tracey hit over third base and in trying to stretch the hit for two sacks was thrown out. Gardner to Fox. Eberle had everything pretty well his own way until the fifth inning. With two men out Red Moore came to bat and was granted a safety. Dooner was next up and got a similar check, while Gardner bagged a pretty hit over second, scoring Moore. After that Eberle tightened and struck out Buemiller. In the next inning the first two men were given a pass, when Fox appeared and drove out a two bagger scoring both McAuley and Miller. But that was as far as it went, for Eberle again

Buelow; Rogers and James. At St. Paul—R H E St. Paul 200002000—4 12 5 Indianapolis 004001320—10 15 0 Batteries—Hall, Miller and Laughlin; Slevor and Howley.

Remember The Saengerfest, La Crosse, Wis., July 23, 24, 25 and 26.

A SANE FOURTH HERE.

This morning Mayor Anderson communicated to Chief of Police Webber an order in which he made plain the purpose of the municipal government to prevent our local Independence Day celebration becoming a menace to life, limb and property of citizens. It is the old plea for a "sane Fourth," for the exercise of common sense in the explosive exposition of our patriotism. Particularly does the mayor insist that there be no indulgence in shocking noises in the vicinity of the hospitals or near homes where sick people are known to be housed.

Two significant things about the order of the mayor may be noted. One is, it will be well to remember, that the Fourth of July begins at midnight July 2d, and ends at midnight July 4th. The other is that explosives are not to be fired on the sidewalks. Note well: This undoubtedly means canes and torpedoes! And, by the way, the intention of the mayor to run this shooting match his own way is pretty fairly indicated by his direction to Chief Webber to, "Employ as many special officers as are deemed necessary, etc."

Readers of the Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and other metropolitan papers are aware that similar efforts to preserve sanity on the Fourth are being made everywhere, and that in the big centers the word has gone forth that the city's mandate must be obeyed, that arrests will follow all violations, and that the peace shall be kept if the jails have to be filled.

Nobody with an ounce of liberality or an inch of brow will say a word against harmless indulgence in fireworks and other things by the use of which custom has decreed we may show our love of country on the day of its birth, but instead of being the inspiration for pretty and harmless demonstrations, the Fourth has come to be the excuse for lawless performances and perilous escapades. The intensity of the noise produced is not to be sacrificed to the public safety. The rights of others are set at naught, and the noisy enthusiast jeopardizes himself and his neighbors in displays of exuberance which can be but mildly stigmatized by the term "folly." The methods in which high explosives are used in populous places is actually criminal, and no sooner are laws passed limiting the dangers than some new contrivance just as noisy and just as dangerous, but not hostile to the letter of the laws whose spirit it transgresses, is invented.

Particularly should there be paid strict attention to the portion of the mayor's order affecting noise and disturbance in the neighborhood of hospitals. A hint should be enough to secure recognition of the merit of this purpose. Humanity should be strong enough in the breast of every American to compel the most painstaking efforts on the part of all citizens to protect the lives of those whose Fourth must be spent on the sick bed. Scores of sufferers, lying on beds of torture, perhaps the life or death climax at hand, would suffer hours of agony from the noise of a celebration outside, and not infrequently are lives sacrificed to wanton disregard of humanity's appeal on Independence day. If you are tempted to light a firecracker near a hospital, stop and think that the explosion may turn the tide of a battle for life against a fellow being. And then don't light it. Parents have no more important duty on the Fourth than that of disciplining their children in this matter. The Fourth of July is a day set aside for patriots to celebrate the birth of these United States, and no patriot will abuse the privilege of this splendid holiday by jeopardizing the lives of the helpless, stricken sufferers. The Tribune urges the public to uphold the hands of the authorities for a sane Fourth, and the authorities to use the power that is vested in them to compel obedience to the laws of this city, of common sense, and humanity.

THE CELEBRATION

Now that there need be no further misunderstanding as to the nature of the celebration to be given here July Fourth, the way is clear for people to come or stay away as fancy strikes them. The fact is that neither the municipality nor the civic bodies of the city are backing the enterprise, the Merchants' Protective association especially having made plain its determination to have nothing to do with it because of celebrations in other neighboring towns with which it may interfere. However, the city has extended the courtesy of a fire run and parade. There will be a racing matinee with plenty of entries. There will be no records broken, but there may be close and exciting racing. There will be one particularly dependable feature—two Illinois-Wisconsin league ball games in which fast teams will compete. There will be fireworks, although the extensiveness of the display is still a matter of conjecture. The essential thing is that such men as C. S. Van Auken and John Elliott have interested themselves in making the celebration as attractive as possible, and while it cannot be expected that the program will be as elaborate as might be expected were a municipal celebration being held, there will be enough entertainment and noise to satisfy many people. Anyway, La Crosse is not a bad city in which to spend a holiday. The Tribune has not taken the position either of urging people to come here, or advising them to stay away. It has tried to state the facts fairly, in order that its out-of-town readers might not be misled regarding the affair.

Lets see: Who was the last man to beat this John T. Kelley whom Uncle Ike looks so good, down in Milwaukee.

Unless W. H. Hatton announces an error in the Blue Book, we shall continue to spell it with an "o."

While reports and theories conflict, Mr. Bryan seems to have about as fat a thing at Denver as Taft had at Chicago.

"Ah," said the school inspector, surveying with a bland glance the goggle-eyed infants before him, "I wish I were your children at school. And why do I wish this?" "Please, sir, 'coss you've forgot all you ever knowed," replied little Willie, the pride of Standard IV.

DEMOCRATIC POSSIBILITIES. NO. 2--JOHNSON.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 30.—"By far the best medicine that ever came out of a drug store."

This is the way Frederick Lynch, treasurer of the Minnesota state democratic committee, a few days ago described John Albert Johnson, governor of Minnesota. He referred to Johnson's early employment in a drug store at St. Peter, Minn., and his subsequent achievements for the people of his state.

Johnson, who was put out in the eleventh hour to run against Bryan for the democratic nomination for the presidency, has been clerk in a drug store, auditor for a lumber company, editor of a country newspaper, a state senator, and, finally, governor. He rose from the most abject and cruel poverty, being obliged to leave school in his twelfth year and go to work so as to keep his mother from continuing the labor of taking in washing to support the family.

But through it all he preserved his optimism and his faith in human nature. Today his character is a series of delightful contrasts. He is conservative in his personal beliefs and tastes, disliking ostentation or display and deprecating anything like personal advertisement. Yet, so simple is he in his views, that, when he was introduced to Speaker Cannon one day in Washington while the house that pretty soon his identity was generally known.

Johnson's love of baseball, skating and swimming explains his healthy mode of thought and his calm, bright outlook on life. What he cherishes in his heart as his idea of true greatness is shown by the following remark he once made to a friend:

"As a life work, I would rather be able to provide for the needs of a family, enjoy the fellowship of good friends and good books, and write one book that would be read a hundred years from now, than to be able to mass all the money in the world." The governor has been a great student and reader all his life. When he was twelve years old and got a place in the drug store in the little town of St. Peter, he pored over his books far into the night. He has kept up this habit ever since. The result is that, although he never went to school after that first employment, he possesses a style in writing and speaking that is clear, forceful and eloquent.

Now forty-seven years of age, he often looks back and recalls that he is distinctly a product of the country store and that he owes much of his success, much of his knowledge of human nature and all of his democracy to the discussions which went on, night after night, when the men of the village were grouped about the big stove in the drug shop.

One of the things that twice helped him, a democrat, to carry a normally republican state overwhelmingly for the governorship, was his early history. He started to work at $10 a month, and, as soon as he was getting $12, he could no longer let his mother work. From that time on, he supported his mother and the other children of the family. Later he turned down an offer to play professional baseball at a tempting salary. Then he was offered the editorship of the St. Peter Herald.

Like "The Gentleman From Indiana," he built his future as he sat in the little office of the town's paper, chronicling the comings and goings, the births and deaths of his fellow men and women. And he made the editorial column of his paper a real power in that and adjoining counties. Also, like "The Gentleman From Indiana," he became a finished public speaker and a deep thinker on political subjects.

Thus it came about that the people turned to him as deserving political honors.

In 1898 he was elected state senator and again in 1900. In 1904 he was elected governor by a plurality of 8,000, while Roosevelt carried the state by 161,000. Two years later he was re-elected by 88,000. Among his achievements as governor are cited the increased assessed valuation of the U. S. Steel corporation in Minnesota, from $22,000,000 to $190,000,000; a reduction of railway rates from 1 to 30 per cent; 2-cent passenger rates; a free state labor bureau, and a reformed system of taxation.

Johnson is not a "society light." Both he and Mrs. Johnson long ago made up their minds that there was nothing much to be gained by drinking afternoon tea in unlimited quantities. Although they have met all the social demands that go with the gubernatorial office, they have stopped there. Mrs. Johnson is as much of a reader and student as the governor, and, when anything of moment comes up, it is to his wife that he turns for decisive counsel.

Naturally modest and retiring, Johnson continually objects to doing the things his friends want him to do in order to bring him into the limelight. When they suggest something of a theatrical nature, something that looks like pandering for publicity, Johnson immediately takes to his heels. His political managers tear their hair, argue with him and beg, but it is of no avail.

For instance, the subject of his making a speaking tour throughout the country to show himself to the people was brought up. His friends thought it would be an excellent plan. But right away the Johnson modesty stepped in, and the plan was doomed before it had been half outlined.

"I've been elected governor of Minnesota. I'm employed to work for the people of Minnesota, and have nothing to do with the matter of making a speaking tour. And all that argument and pleading could get out of him were two speeches, one in Virginia and one in Alabama, and the Alabama speech was made after the people of that state had refused to endorse him for the presidency.

SPOTLIGHTS

Olivia Eaton's Diamond Dress. A princess gown of black velvet built on a foundation of heavy taffeta, and covered with thousands of brilliants, weighing from one half karat to four karats each. Over ten thousand stones set on in the elaborate floral design, that they are all imported genuine diamond cut and mounted in solid silver, each stone sewn to the velvet securely—that is—a stitch between each claw of the Tiffany mountings—an idea may be gained of the immense labor and cost of the gown, which is said to rival Anna Held's famous $10,000 gown.

The above gown will be worn for the first time in La Crosse by Miss Eaton as "Camille" on Wednesday (matinee and night) and Thursday night.

Tonight the company will present "Dora Thorne" and after the last act Miss Grace Fenslon and Mr. Renold Befer will be married by Judge Kleeber on the stage in full view of the audience.

THE IRON LORD

A Hitherto Unpublished Story of Immense Power.
By
S. R. CROCKETT.
(Copyrighted.)

"Cargo," said his master impatiently, "and belonging to the firm." The little thick-set man with the grey eyes that so consistently fled the regard, appeared to ponder a moment.

"The Good Intent!" he said at last.

"And her master?"

"Captain Warner."

"Put Warner on the Golden Swan," said Mr. Romer, "shift Captain Helstone to The Good Intent and let him choose his own crew. You are to be Supercargo, and to do as I tell you."

"Very well, sir," said James Kahn. He knew very much better than to ask a question or even smile. He was on his promotion, though he pursued knowledge rather than minted gold. Afterwards—well, James Kahn would see. Knowledge was power—also money. He bowed and withdrew with his orders for the day. He was to go on a cruise—a little private excursion, with Captain Helstone as master and the crew specially chosen.

"Ah!" thought James Kahn, "there should be something worth knowing in this. I wonder what is the old man's game? I would wager there is not much cargo and good deal of premium on The Good Intent. It is a blessing I can swim, and I shall certainly have a cork jacket by my bunk when I turn in."

But he resolved that if there were any risk in the matter, he would make Mr. Jacob Romer pay dearly for the dangers he might have to encounter.

And within the morning-room of Gorm House the master of the great Incubus pitter continued his beat as upon a quarter-deck, with knitted brow and his brother's letter crushed more tightly in his hand.

Mr. Romer was hurt in his tenderest domestic affections. His wife had disappointed, his daughter outraged, him. His fool of a brother was good for nothing but prescribing for old wives. If only—ah, if only he could have done everything for himself—but to be compelled to trust to idiots—to a quack! Pshaw! And pshaw!

CHAPTER II

The Cruise of "The Good Intent." "How nice of your father dear, sending this nice ship and all these nice men just to give us a trip and cheer us up, before settling down again at home!"

The voice of a woman, tired and faded, spoke languidly. She was lying on a pile of mattresses and cushions on the deck of The Good Intent, to procure which last her daughter had made a general pillage of the ship.

"Humph," said Vida Romer, brusquely. "I don't see why you ever married that man, mother—I wouldn't. He is too mean to live!"

"Childie," said Mrs. Romer, sighing gently, "you cannot understand, and besides it is wrong of you to speak in that way of your father—"

"Let him show that he is my father, then," Vida declared, emphatically. "He is rich and he leaves us poor. He never does a single thing for us. I wouldn't have him for a father if I could help it. And I can!"

"Hush, Vida, hush!" said her mother, lifting up a narrow, transparent hand which she laid tremulously over the strong nervous one of her daughter. "You don't know who may hear you. And they are all strangers except that nice Mr. Kahn!"

In her better moods, Mrs. Romer was just that type of colourless, easily satisfied, person to whom everyone, not actively hostile, is either "nice" or "kind." To the woman of weak mind and troubled nerves, James Kahn was both.

"Ugh, I detest him!" said her daughter, without the least attempt at moderating her voice, "a horrid, little, sneaking—"

"Oh, my dear, there he is now! Do be careful!"

"Careful, mother," said Vida contemptuously. "I don't care if he were standing here now. He can't eat me!"

However, the supercargo moved off to the further end of the ship, and mother and daughter were again left alone.

"How did you come to marry Jacob Romer?" the girl went on, with the implacability of youth.

"I—I could not help it—I could not do otherwise," quavered her mother. "You see, Jacob said I must. My father and mother said I must. So I did. And I think he cared—at first—oh, yes, a little. We were poor then, and—except for his finding fault with the housekeeping and my wrong additions in the money-books, I was happy enough. But then he was clever—far too clever for me. He was always inventing things, so that it ended in his uncle, old Mr. Gorm, not being able to do without him, and he had always to be at the works, and we—that is, you and I stayed on at Thorby to be near grandfather and grandmother. Jacob used sometimes to come at week-ends—for a while. Afterwards he was too busy, or something—and he could not be bothered with the journey. Then my father and mother died within three weeks of each other. After that it was much lonelier for me, and but for you I should have weaned. Yes, I know what they said—what Uncle Tom said—horrible things—that I took opium—that I was out of my mind, and if it had not been for you, Vida, they would have put your poor mother away. But now we are going home at last—and Jacob will be good to us, as he was in the first days when we were poor. You see he has sent for me of his own accord. They tell me—Uncle Tom says—that it is such a magnificent place, with gardeners and hot-houses, and grapes in bunches (though I don't believe your father will allow us to cut them), and more than one man-servant. Oh, I don't know how I shall ever venture to speak to them—"

"I do!" cried Vida, bristling up. "Honest-like, 'I'll speak to them, if they so much as dare to look as if they would smile at my mother!'"

"And how kind of dear Jacob to give us this splendid cruise in his own ship, all around by the north of Scotland—!"

"Rubbish!" said Vida, shortly. "Now, sit up, mother, and I will arrange your pillow for you. You are slipping down much too low. There—that's better! Father wanted us out of the way a while longer, that's all. I suppose you think he ordered this nice smooth weather, too, specially, so that we would be nice and comfortable—"

"It would have been just like him if he had," said Mrs. Romer, smiling faintly, but with a certain glint of pleasure in her dim eyes. "I mean like what he used to be long ago! He was quick-tempered and masterful—Jacob. Oh, always! And, do you know, Vida, sometimes I think you are like him."

"God forbid!" said the girl quickly thrusting out her hands as if pushing something horrid away.

The mother raised her hands in pained deprecation.

"Oh, Vida, you must not—remember the Fifth Commandment—the first with promise."

"Oh, yes, I know, mother, that is all very well," said Vida, "but it says, too—like as a father pitieth his children—doesn't it? And Jacob Romer hasn't pitted me a bit. Why, then, should I honor him?"

The mother found no other reply than the simple restatement of the commandment and of the fact, equally incontestable, that he was Vida's father. The girl shrugged her shoulders a little behind her mother's back, and made a grimace that said clearly that Jacob Romer, when he came to reckon with his daughter, would find quite other material on his hand than in his wife's case.

QUIPS AND CRANKS AND WANTON WILES

The Boarders.

The new boarder started nervous-

ly. "What is that sobbing, howling, shrieking and cursing that I hear?" he asked.

"Heavens," muttered the old boarder, turning pale, "the other boarders have gotten down ahead of us."

"But hist, that dreadful noise, what is its meaning?"

"It means," groaned the old boarder, "near-turkey hash again."

So saying (hardened veteran though he was) the old boarder attempted to drown himself in the wash-bowl.

Uncertainty in politics.

Herbert Parsons, president of the New York county republican committee, was talking in Albany against self-confidence in politics.

"To win," he said, "a man should never be sure of winning. Confidence and boasting to my mind always imply defeat. I'll tell you a story."

"A man came shooting from a brightly lighted window one night and landed with a crash on the sidewalk."

"It's all right," he said to the crowd that had gathered, as he stiffly rose. "That's my club, the Eighth precinct. I'm a Smith man, and there's ten Jones men in there. I'm going back to them. You may stay here and count them as they come out of that window."

"He limped back into the club. There was a great uproar. Then a figure crashed through the window and struck the sidewalk with a grunt."

"That's one!" said the crowd. "No," said the figure, rising. "Don't start counting yet. It's me again."—Rochester Herald.

A Relief.

Smith started up into a sitting posture.

"Who are you?" he cried. The masked figure with the dark lantern and sawed-off shotgun turned, nonplussed for the moment, from the bureau, and said confusedly:

"Why, I am a burglar."

Smith settled back upon the pillow, drawing the warm coverlets about his shoulders.

"Thank goodness," he murmured sleepily; "I thought you were a plumber."

An Unfermented Anecdote.

Once when Rudyard Kipling was a boy he ran out on the yardarm of a ship.

"Mr. Kipling," yelled a scared sailor, "your boy is on a yardarm, and if he let's go he'll drown."

"Ah," responded Mr. Kipling, with a yawn, "but he won't let go."

This incident also happened to Jim Fiske, Horace Walpole, Napoleon Bonaparte, Dick Turpin, Julius Caesar and the poet Byron.—Washington Herald.

Getting Back into Order

Mr. Johnson, whom Indiana sends to congress, is famed for his cleverness in debate. Recently he called an Illinois congressman an ass. This was unparliamentary and had to be withdrawn.

Mr. Johnson said: "I withdraw the language, Mr. Speaker, but I insist that the gentleman from Illinois is out of order." "How am I out of order?" yelled his victim.

"Probably a veterinary surgeon could tell you," retorted Johnson.

This was admissible on the records.—Exchange.

WEDDINGS
Mr. Phillip Stack of McLeod, North Dakota, and Miss Ella Miller of this city were married yesterday afternoon by Judge Leonard Kleeber at his office in the Hebbard building.

The young couple will leave today for McLeod, where they will make their future home.

Last evening at the residence of Judge Kleeber on North Sixth street, Mr. Fred Baskin and Miss Ruth Baskin of this city were married by Judge Kleeber. The groom is a well known resident of Ogellie, Wis., while the bride is a prominent young lady of this city.

MISS KATHERINE PAUL TO BE WEDDED TODAY

The marriage of Miss Katherine Paul, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Paul, to Beverly Douglas Causey of Suffolk, Va., will take place at Christ church at 5 o'clock this evening.

Out of town people who have arrived for the wedding are: Mr. and Mrs. Alex Paul and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Paul of Watertown, Fla.

"Didn't you say six months ago that if Miss Tipkins wouldn't marry you, you would throw yourself into the deepest part of the sea? Now Miss Tipkins married someone else three months ago, and yet you haven't—" "Oh, it's easy to talk, but let me tell you it is not such an easy matter to find the deepest part of the sea."

FALL IN RIVER PLEASES FISHERMEN

The fishermen of this vicinity found considerable gratification in looking at the government gauge Monday morning and finding that the river dropped half a foot in forty-eight hours. The stage of the high water at that time was 10.9.

A sandbar at the foot of Vine street is being dredged out by the government dredge Vulcan. If this bar had been allowed to remain it would have projected far above the water at normal stage. The dirt which is being taken out is loaded on a barge and taken across the river by the steamer Henry Bosse and it is dumped in a place where it will do no damage to navigation.

"My eyes bother me a good deal, doctor. Do you think I need stronger glasses?" "No, I think you need weaker glasses—and fever," was the blunt answer.

132 LICENSES ARE GRANTED BY CITY

THREE ALDERMEN VOTED AGAINST WHOLE BATCH

CLOSED DOOR SESSION HELD

Public and Press Are Excluded While Chief of Police Tells Aldermen of the Saloon Shortcomings

With but three dissenting votes, 132 licenses were granted to liquor dealers at a special meeting of the common council last evening out of 134 applications. Two applications were referred to committees to ascertain more exactly the locations and conditions of the places. Those who were referred to committee, which will report at the next meeting Monday night, were George H. Smith, 410 North Third street, and A. A. Donaldson, 301 North Third street.

The three aldermen who voted against the granting of licenses to the applicants were Aldermen Grover, Emery and Marvin. Their reason for vetoing the entire list is not known, as the granting of the licenses was all done behind closed doors.

Following the calling of the roll and the reading of the applications on the recommendation of the mayor, the chief of police was requested to address the meeting on the conduct of the various saloons. While the chief was being notified on motion of Alderman Harry Hirschheimer, seconded by Harry Palmer, the press and visitors were requested to leave the room as a private session was about to open. It is understood that but one place was objected to by Chief Weber, and as that place was not considered very "tough," the license was granted.

Licenses were granted to the saloons at 1400, 1416 and 1445 Caladonia street, although Aldermen Marvin read a petition against them.

ESCH COULDN'T SPEAK IN CANADA

Congressman John J. Esch will deliver an address at Fairchild, Wis., on the Fourth.

Owing to this engagement Congressman Esch was forced to refuse an invitation to speak at the Dominion fair to be held in Calgary, Canada. Mr. Esch was wanted by the Canadians to deliver an address on the Fourth of July, American Day, in the Dominion. The fair is an annual event in Canada. This year it is being held in Calgary, Alta. In regard to the fair one of the Canadian papers says:

"After months of preparation and a liberal expenditure of money, the Dominion Exhibition was opened in this city today under the most auspicious conditions. The opening was attended by Hon. Sydney Fisher, minister of agriculture and a number of other notables.

"The exhibition is the largest and most comprehensive enterprise of its kind ever attempted in Western Canada. The fair grounds occupy nearly 100 acres, and are located convenient to the center of the city, on the bank of the Elbow river. The grounds contain more than a score of substantial and attractive buildings.

ADVERTISERS OF FEST MEET TODAY

The advertising committee of the Saengerfest association will hold a meeting this afternoon in the offices of Secretary Utermoehl in the Second Ward school. Plans and arrangements for the advertising of the fest will be taken up and Chairman Whittier will make several suggestions.

GOLD PIECES GIVEN AWAY!

A FAIR CHANCE FOR ALL YOU MAY GET THE GOLD

A GRADUATE of Ann Arbor has claimed that there is a grammatical error in the reading matter on the "INDIAN CORN FLAKES" package. Read the package over carefully; then write what you think the Ann Arbor graduate referred to.

At the same time, write us why you think "INDIAN CORN FLAKES" is better than any other Corn Flaked Food. Just a short letter; not more than one hundred words in length.

To the writers of the best letters we are going to give $500.00, and here's where the GOLD comes in. To the writer of a correct reply, together with the best letter on the superior quality of "INDIAN CORN FLAKES" we will send $20.00 in GOLD. To the writers of the next five best letters and correct replies, we will send each $10.00 in GOLD. To the next sixteen best, we will send each $5.00 in GOLD. To the next seventy-five best, we will send each a crisp $2.00 bill. And to the next 200 best we will send each a crisp $1.00 bill. Two hundred and ninety-seven prizes, $500.00 in all.

The general character of the letter will be considered equally with the correct replies, so that the last letter received may get the GOLD. The contest closes July 10th and letters must reach us by that time. We will send the GOLD as soon afterwards as the letters can be read and judged.

Address letters to the Indian Corn Flake Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Sign your name and address plainly, and do not delay as this advertisement may not appear again.

the hope he and they might prescribe it to their patients.

The coroner's office and police at once discovered that the brewing firm, the Schemm company, whose name was used by the murderers, not only does not brew ale but does not use the form of circular Dr. Wilson received.

So carefully did the plotters lay their plans to kill the physician that they had the name of the brewing firm printed on a sheet of paper and then used a typewriter to fill out the circular letter which they addressed to Dr. Wilson.

The boy who delivered the bottle to Dr. Wilson's house and the express office from which he was sent have been located. The police have a good description of a man and woman who left a bottle at the express office and directed it be delivered at the physician's residence at once, and the description has been recognized.

Tricks Ate at Dinner.
Dr. Wilson accepted the contents of the fake circular letter in good faith and at dinner on Friday he decided to sample the bottle. His wife and little girl, to whom he was devoted, were seated at the dinner table when the servant brought the poisoned ale into the dining room.

The physician was in excellent health and spirits, and while the bottle in which lurked the deadly poison stood in front of the plate.

Peculiar Taste Noticed.
"Let me see what sort of ale this is," remarked Dr. Wilson, holding the bottle to the light. The bottle bore no label except a small one covering the crown of the cork, on which was the name of the brewing firm which appeared at the head of the bogus circular letter. He poured a small quantity of the liquor into a glass and took a sip. Only a few seconds had elapsed when, as a mouthful of the ale reached his palate, he said: "My, but that has a peculiar taste."

As he spat out most of the fluid his wife reached towards him and took the still partly filled glass from him. She tasted the contents, detected the same strange flavor, and quickly rid her mouth of the small quantity that had reached her tongue. Fortunately she did not swallow any or she would have shared her husband's fate.

Saves Daughter's Life.
"I believe there is poison in that ale," remarked the physician rising from the table. As he did so he knocked the glass with its contents from the hand of his little daughter just as she, too, was about to take a sip from it. In doing so he probably saved her life.

Then the physician, as the first tremor convulsed his frame, wheeled about saying: "Don't touch that stuff, it's deadly," and hastened to the kitchen. There he swallowed a glass of milk in the hope of its acting as an emetic, evidently convinced that he had been poisoned. Hardly had the fluid passed his lips than he was seized with violent convulsions and fell to the floor and died.

NEW PITCHER TO TRY OUT HERE

John A. Nicholson, a pitcher of renown from Black River Falls, Wis., arrived yesterday and will don a suit today and receive a try out with the Pinks. Nicholson has been pitching good ball with the Black River Falls independent team and if he can keep up his record in faster company he will in all probability be retained on the Colt's pitching staff. Scarry, the southpaw from St. Louis, is expected some time today and will also be tried with Nicholson. Both players will be given tryouts in practice before being sent into a regular game and if they show up good in practice will probably be used in the Green Bay series that opens Friday.

Unless the weather man interferes today the Colts and Lumberjacks will battle at the park. Flynn or Baillies will be in the box for the Pinks while Dunbar will probably be used by Acting Manager Fox.

and open headquarters at the Albany hotel.

Contests Over 50 Seats

When the democratic national committee meets Monday it will have contests to settle involving fifty seats for the following states: Idaho, 6; Illinois, 20; New York, 11; Pennsylvania, 7; District of Columbia, 6.

Of these the interest centers in New York and Idaho. In the latter, a notice which was received today by wire, a Mormon issue will be squarely raised. James H. Hawley, J. T. Pence, John F. Nugent will endeavor to oust former Senator Fred Dubois, and Henry Heitenfield, Timothy Regan, delegates at large who were elected by convention that declared against the Mormon faction in the party. Frauds will be alleged.

The New York contests involve a fight between Pat McCarran and Charles Murphy over the control of the Kings county (Brooklyn) organization. The subcommittee on arrangements has completed the lists of chaplains for the convention. In addition to Archbishop Keane, of the Catholic diocese of Wyoming, are the following: Dr. Christian F. Roister, Methodist, Denver; Rabbi Samuel Koch, Seattle; Rev. P. T. Ramsey, Southern Methodist.

Bryan Uncommitted
Bryan himself is fighting shy of second place discussions. He said jocularly today: "The situation is not yet sufficiently defined to show where the band wagon is. Of course I don't want to make a mistake attaching myself to the wrong boom."

MISS WATERS IS AT REST TODAY

Marie Waters, the 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. Rose L. Waters, 623 South Seventh street, was buried this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home. Miss Waters had been sick only three days of pneumonia and the end came very unexpectedly. She had just been promoted into the eighth grade at the Third District school and was a great favorite among her friends. Rev. Tenbrook, who is taking the place of Rev. Miller, will officiate and Miller Bros. are in charge of the funeral arrangements. Those from out of the city who have come to attend the funeral are Mrs. John Oeschger and two sons of Grand Forks, N. D., Mr. Morris Lanstead of Minneapolis and Mr. M. Wilcox from the same place, and Mabel Waters of Aurora, Ill.

MINERS' UNION AT WAR.

LINTON, Ind., June 30.—A revolt among the miners against a provision in the contracts of Indiana, that men who go out on "stampede" or unjustified strikes will be fined $1 a day by the company has assumed grave proportions today. Fifty-three men of the 250 who struck at the Mt. Summit mine last July and who sued the company for wages are threatened with expulsion from the union at midnight tonight unless they reimburse the state organization for the money it has paid the company in accordance with the contract. In a meeting today the whole membership of the local union agreed to stand by the 53 men and will call a convention of the other miners in the Indiana association to oppose the fine provision of the contract.

MAD DOGS BITE ELEVEN TODAY

CHICAGO, June 30.—Six more persons were bitten today by dogs believed to be mad. Three of them were children. Police squads continue to shoot all unmuzzled dogs.

Five Are Bitten.

TCLSA, Okla., June 30.—Five persons and several animals were bitten by a mad dog today before the animal was killed. The citizens raised a fund to send the victims to St. Louis where free treatment is promised at the Pasteur institute.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HIER

The funeral of Mrs. Hier took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Lowe preached the funeral sermon and the pallbearers were as follows: William Torrance, Fred Smith, E. L. Spicer, W. A. Pryor, Frank Bailey and R. T. Wilson. The interment was made in the Oak Grove cemetery with Frank Tillman in charge.

It's queer how much more expensive a cheap pew in church seems than a dear box at the theatre.

Don't Strain Your Eyes

By forcing them to read something for which they are not adapted. The eye is the most delicate organ of the body, a willing worker, a faithful servant, but quick to resent any ill usage on the part of the owner. Headaches, nervousness, etc., are but symptoms of such treatment. If you have difficulty in reading ordinary newspaper print at a distance of about twelve inches from the eye it shows you need glasses and should consult Paarker, the optician, at once.

RINGLING COMES TO CITY JULY 21

ADVANCE MEN REACH LA CROSSE FOR BIG CIRCUS

DISTINGUISHED ANIMAL LIST

Great Show Will Present a Better Line of Attractions This Year Than Ever Before

Mr. Darwin, of Borneo, an orang-outang that looks almost human, wears male apparel, eats from plates with knife and fork and smokes cigarettes; Mr. and Mrs. Monk and infant of the Hotel de Monk, Ringlingville; Liberal Mouthed Ike, the hippo; the giraffes of Africa, and 108 cages of other jungle celebrities are to visit La Crosse Tuesday, July 21.

At the same time will also come 55 cars of circus joy, 650 equine beauties, three miles of processional glory and 40 elephants, one of which bears the proud distinction of being the first mountain of meat ever owned by the Ringlings.

His name is Bill. Just plain Bill, minus the tapestry usually hung on a fellow during the early stage of life. Bill cast his lot under the Ringling banner during the summer of '83 and has served the quintet of brothers ever since. He saw their enterprise bud and bloom into supremacy. Saw the country boy showmen ascend, step by step to the throne chair of circus kingdom.

Today, Bill can gaze down the lane of time and recall the bygone days when he and a pair of moth-eaten felines were the key-note to Ringling pride. The vision of a pigmy tent, two red wagons and a handful of performers still hang in memory's hall, while in the hazy distance winds the trail of hardship o'er which he and his associates struggled to success.

The present season marks the twenty-fifth milestone in the Ringlings' career as showmen and a program of exceptional excellence has been arranged to celebrate the jubilee. All that is new, startling and wonderful, deemed worthy of presenting on such an important occasion, has been gathered from every civilized country in the world.

From France has come the Patty Brothers, one of whom turns topsyturvy and while in this position ascends stairs, skips the rope and executes numerous other feats with the same ease displayed by a person in natural position.

The Marnello-Marnites are offering a novelty that is especially skillful and beautiful. The four clever people of this family, while doing head-to-head balancing, shoulder-to-shoulder leap, somersaults and hand springs play on sweet toned Swiss bells. Marguerite and Hanley, of Germany, present a wonderful act demanding nerve and muscle. Hanley holds in his teeth a steel wire, the other end of which is fastened to a pole. A woman mounts the wire and performs upon it. The Mirza-Golems, from the Persian palace, were loaned by the shah, which marks the first instance where his imperial highness favored circusdom.

The entire performance of the Ringling Brothers' circus this season is one of originality, novelty and artistic completeness. All of the 375 performers were picked from the foremost talent of the old world. The 60 riders are headed by the Les Bestines and Daisy Hodgini; the 60 aerialists have as their feature the ten Jordans, whose act fairly fills the arena with flying forms; chief among the trained animal acts is that of the Ricebono horses, one of which takes off boots, coat and trousers, lights a candle and goes to bed; the Clarkonians of London in the most astonishing performance ever witnessed, and above all for the limit of daring is the double somersaulting automobile. This act consists of a meteor-like descent of a huge auto car in which Mile, La Belle Roche is carried into space where her charger somersaults twice before righting and lighting upon a distant platform.

SCHOOL CENSUS IS COMMENCED TODAY

Mr. L. L. Brown, who has been awarded the contract for gathering and compiling the school census started his crew of men at the work today and within the next fifteen days they will visit all houses in the city in quest of the names of children of school age. As the city school fund receives a certain amount of money for each child of school age reported, it is important to citizens to report all children and assist the census takers as much as possible, as it will reduce the expense of the schools to the local taxpayers.

TAX DODGER STUNG.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 30.—The city council today added $1,076,000 to the tax schedules for the years 1906 and 1907, returned by R. E. Moore, Lincoln's richest citizen, who recently abandoned his residence here and located in Stamford, Conn. The assessor reported to the council that Moore was an habitual tax dodger and had escaped taxes by dummy transfers of mortgages to a relative, a preacher in Illinois.

BOY SLAYER FREED.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 30.—Kenneth Reeves, 29-year-old boy who struck and killed his 11-year-old playmate in a boys' quarrel, was held on a manslaughter charge and was given a preliminary hearing before Judge Henry in the juvenile court today. He was set free, the court holding it was an accident.

Healthy Happy Babies

Mother, you know the summer will be a trying time for your teething baby—a period of anxiety and sleepless nights for you unless you take the precaution to keep baby's system in condition to make teething easy.

Teethina (Teething Powders)

The prescription of Dr. C. J. Moffett, graduate of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, contains elements recommended by the most advanced medical science to remove the cause of disease and keep the system in condition to make teething easy. For 40 years the standard remedy throughout the South during the trying period of teething, colic, hives, etc., in children.

In nine out of ten cases of cholera infantum that prove fatal from ordinary neglect and subsequent treatment, the timely use of Teethina would have saved the child.

BOOM ON FOR WOOD PAVEMENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—There is a boom on now for wood pavements. Three-quarters of a century ago our ancestors tried wood street pavements, but were handicapped for some preservative treatment to prevent quick decay. Wood paving was therefore abandoned, and its revival nowadays is due to the fact that experiments with creosoted wood have proven the practicability of its general use.

Among the advantages claimed for wooden pavements are greater smoothness, resiliency, ease of repair, and more rapid cleaning. Through selection of suitable woods, cutting the blocks into rectangular shape so that their edges may lie close together, and treating them chemically to increase their durability, wood pavement is better in many respects than any other in common use.

The cost of creosoted, or "preserved" wood, is greater than that of macadam, brick, or asphalt, but not so great as granite or sandstone. On the other hand, it exceeds any of the first group in wearing qualities. Wood paving costs from $2.40 to $3.50 per square yard.

Cedar has been extensively laid in the middle west, and oak, cypress, white pine, and other conifers in various climes of the country. A pavement of Australian eucalyptus has lasted in one city for from fifteen to twenty years.

The United States forest service believes that the cheaper woods can be generally utilized for wood paving, and has issued a circular giving instructions for use.

"To what," inquired the interviewer, "do you attribute your success in acquiring money?" "Partly, indeed principally," replied the great financier, smoothing down the lapel of his coat and giving away another town hall, "to the success of other men in letting go."

ST. PETER WOMAN IS A SUICIDE

HOSPITAL PATIENT DROWNS HERSELF YESTERDAY

JUMPS INTO A CISTERN

Husband Summoned and Awaits Body from Well—Doctors' Work for Hour is Futile

ST. PETER, Minn., June 30.—Mrs. Peter A. Peterson committed suicide yesterday morning by jumping into a cistern. She had been ill for some time suffering from melancholia and only returned from St. Paul recently after an extended course of medical treatment. Yesterday she was quite nervous but nothing was thought of it, as she had suffered from these spells for some time. She did not get up until late and was still in her night gown when she jumped into the cistern, which was entirely filled with water.

Her husband was summoned and pulled her out about fifteen minutes later, and although three doctors resorted to artificial respiration for over an hour their efforts were unavailing. She is survived by her husband and several small children.

GETS AHEAD OF THE BLACK HAND SOCIETY

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., June 30.—Phillip Reppano, an Italian employed on the Great Northern near Ashby, shot himself through the head a few days ago, and was brought to this city for treatment. The bullet entered his ear, passed through a portion of the brain, and lodged just under the skull at the base of the nose. Notwithstanding the serious nature of his injury, he may recover.

Since his arrival here it is reported from Ashby that he was probably the victim of the Black Hand society, and decided to take his life when threatened with vengeance by that organization. Shortly before the attempted suicide he received a letter with black border and other peculiar marks.

He has been in this country for fourteen years and his only relatives here are a sister and her children, who live in Chicago. His fellow Italians absolutely refuse to discuss the letter or its contents.

CLINTON, MINN., IS HARD HIT BY DESTRUCTIVE TORNADO

LIVES AND PROPERTY LOST

Aggregate Loss Will Amount to About $150,000 and the Community in Need of Relief

ORTONVILLE, Minn., June 30.—The casualties in the Clinton cyclone are as follows:

Dead—
Thomas Rothwell, aged 60.
Mrs. P. V. Vandermark, aged 70.
Miss Kate Mills, 23.
All on the Thomas Rothwell farm, four miles northwest of Clinton.
Mrs. Olaf Mikkelsen and infant.
Fred Stotesbury.
Mrs. Gustav Johnson, all of Clinton.

The seriously injured are:
Mrs. Theodore Condit, broken ankle and badly bruised.
Mrs. Frank Watkins, badly bruised, perhaps internally.
Herald Watkins, 5 years of age.
Mrs. John Haggaman.
Miss Tompke.
Clarence Johnson and baby.
Edna Carl and quite a number were slightly injured.

The storm was terrific, and demolished everything in its path; the bark was peeled from the trees and feathers plucked from the chickens, horses, cattle, dogs and cats were killed, and scattered about on the prairie, thrashing engines, church bells, steel ranges and gang plows were carried for many rods and all buildings in the direct center of its path literally torn to splinters.

Miraculous Escape of Child

The strangest thing of the catastrophe was the miraculous escape of the two-year-old child of Gustav Johnson. The mother had succeeded in getting six of her children into the cellar and went upstairs to get the baby when the house was completely wrecked and the child was carried over eighty rods and thrown into a slough with its head and feet resting on a small board, being placed there so tenderly that it was not injured in the least, and its cries attracted the rescuers and it was immediately taken to safety without a scratch, but the poor mother was hurled to the center of the lake and was not found till this morning at about 9 o'clock. Her arms were outstretched and her hands extended as if reaching for the baby.

About thirty-five dwellings and a creamery besides the churches were totally destroyed and scattered upon the prairie and ten or fifteen other dwellings present the appearance of having been gutted by fire, the windows and doors being smashed and all the furniture shattered and broken.

The loss will aggregate about $150,000, and the community is in need of relief. The farm buildings of Thomas Rothwell and Martin Higgins together with all the livestock, including about twelve head of horses, ten or fifteen head of cat-

You Know Good Beans Just as Well as We

We shall not need to argue if you'll try Van Camp's. Compare them once with others. Judge which you like best—you know your taste. All the world would use Van Camp's if all the world did that.

You can get a small can of Van Camp's for ten cents. And that one can will tell you more than our ads can tell. Perhaps you are baking your beans at home. That can will tell you what a mistake you are making. Perhaps you are using other brands. That can will tell you the remarkable difference. Won't you spend ten cents to know, for all time, the best beans that ever were baked?

Why do you suppose that millions now use Van Camp's? We can scarcely find enough beans, of our grade, to supply them.

They once baked beans at home, perhaps. They once used other brands. Why are they coming, by millions, to swell the enormous demand for Van Camp's?

A single can will tell you. There are myriads of brands of beans. Some of them cost the grocer only half as much as Van Camp's. Some makers give to grocers one case free in five. Yet—with all these factors against us—Van Camp's have won by far the largest sale in the world. Don't you want to know the beans that have done that?

Some think of beans as a homely dish—a simple dish—a dish that every housewife knows.

Please let us change that idea. Home-baked beans are nothing like Van Camp's.

Van Camp's BAKED WITH TOMATO SAUCE PORK AND BEANS

A delicious summer dish ready to serve. No fire is needed—no work whatever—if you serve it cold. Our chef does the cooking while you sit in the breeze. Think what that means in hot weather.

No other food is so nutritious as beans. They are 84% nutriment.

Meat, though it costs several times as much, has a lesser food value.

Beans are appetizing and hearty; all people like them. They should be a daily dish, not an occasional.

You will eat more of them when you serve Van Camp's. You will find them digestible. They will not ferment and form gas.

You will have a new idea of how good beans can be. They will be as staple as bread.

And people don't tire of Van Camp's.

Desolation is Complete

The storm covered an area of 300 yards wide and four miles long and a tour along the path of the storm today shows desolation as complete as it is possible to picture.

People who have experienced other tornadoes say that this left the most complete ruin in its wake of any in their experience. The marvel is that so few were killed and that the list of injured isn't larger.

PROGRESS THE BEST RULE

A progressive policy in the long run is the most economical.

For instance, those who have attempted to discredit the Bell system, which has made the telephone an indispensable utility in the thirty years that have elapsed since the inventor and his associates introduced it, describe as extravagant the policy of discarding out-of-date apparatus and otherwise radically improving plants and service.

Yet this policy has made the Bell system the model for the world and has established a standard of service that cannot be matched. Radical changes have been necessary from time to time to bring the service to something like the perfection which the men at the head of the national system have long had in mind, and these changes the Bell companies have not hesitated to make; nor will they in the future.

Good service requires good equipment, one that must be as good tomorrow as it was yesterday.

with a severe accident. A big derrick, which was swinging scoops loaded with cement into place, broke suddenly, and the scoop fell on him, partially burying him in cement. He was quickly dug out, and it was found that one arm was broken and his face terribly cut, and internal injuries also are feared. But for the fact that the scoop struck a big wheel as it was falling, he would have been crushed and killed instantly.

CHIEF LANDS ALL THREE

MORA, Minn., June 30.—Chief of Police George E. Day of this city had an exciting experience with three lumberjacks. One became disorderly and was being taken to the lock-up when his two pals interfered, one pulling a gun with the threat that he would shoot the chief if he did not immediately release the prisoner. Chief Day did release his prisoner, but at once closed with the man with the gun, and succeeded in landing all three prisoners. The man with the gun was given a sentence of ninety days in the St. Cloud jail, while the other two were let off with a $25 fine each, which they paid.

RESERVE ALONG BOUNDARY

CROOKSTON, Minn., June 30.—A proclamation has been received at the Crookston United States land office setting aside as a reserve all untaken land for sixty feet along the border between this country and the Dominion of Canada so that the customs and immigration laws of the United States can be better enforced.

WAR OVER SCREENS

CROOKSTON, Minn., June 30.—With the application of seventeen liquor dealers of the city before it, the city council here has refused to grant some of the licenses until certain ordinances of the city are lived up to. The ordinances require the withdrawal of curtains and screens during the legal closing hours in order that the police or the public may get a clear view of the interior. The council will meet tomorrow night to take up the matter.

NELSON MAKES A HIT BY PROXY

CROOKSTON, Minn., June 30.—Five thousand people attended the first day of the celebration at McIntosh, Minn., east of here of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the settlement of the Thirteen Towns. Politicians from all parts of the state were at the celebration.

Senator Knute Nelson was billed to speak, but he was unable to come, and State Senator A. S. Stephens of Crookston was called by committee to speak in his place. The introduction did not reach all cars and many hundred visitors departed from McIntosh believing that they had heard Senator Nelson. Senator Nelson's stock has gone sky high, for the speaker showed an intimate acquaintance with the local conditions throughout Polk county and the North Valley, and it was very pleasing to the residents of this section to be praised by a United States senator.

The Thirteen Towns was opened by government order June 27, 1883, and the immense tract of land was immediately settled. The Thirteen Towns composed the eastern portion of Polk county and two towns in Clearwater.

DROWNED WHILE SWIMMING

WINNEBAGO, Minn., June 30.—Nicholas McDonald, a young man, was drowned in the Blue Earth river, two miles south of this place. The young man, with several companions, was in swimming. Owing to the high stage of water it is not probable the body will be found for some time.

McDonald came from Ireland, where his parents still reside, about a year ago, and was working for a farmer named Blanchard.

An Economical Vacation

Round trip tickets at figures but slightly in excess of one way fares to a hundred or more resorts in Canada and New England will be placed on sale on various dates after June 1, 1908.

It was indeed a beautiful night. The gentle zephyrs played musically amid the delicate fronds of the turnip-tops, and wafted from far distant fields the subtle perfume of the luscious onion and the fragrance of decaying cabbages. "Betsy," he whispered, as they sat together on the fence surrounding Mrs. Filligan's pig sty, "ow beautiful you be! Jes' think of it, Betsy! When us be married us will have a pig of our own! Think of that, Betsy!"

"Jan," she whispered, a note of resentment in her voice, "what do I care for pigs? I shan't want no pig when I've got you."

Then all was silent once more, save for the musical frolics of the zephyrs already mentioned.—Punch.

A man who is in perfect health, so he can do an honest day's work when necessary, has much for which he should be thankful. Mr. L. C. Rodgers, of Branchton, Pa., writes that he was not only unable to work, but he couldn't stoop over to tie his shoes. Six bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure made a new man of him. He says, "Success to Foley's Kidney Cure." O. T. Erhart.

S.S.S. NATURE'S PERFECT TONIC

There is scarcely any one, no matter how vigorous and healthy, who does not need a tonic sometimes. Little physical irregularities upset the system, the appetite fails, digestion is poor, the body feels tired and worn out, and other unpleasant symptoms give warning that the system is disordered and needs assistance to ward off, perhaps, some serious sickness or ailment. S. S. S. is recognized everywhere as the best of all tonics, nature's medicine, made entirely of healing, cleansing, invigorating roots and herbs, a systemic remedy without an equal. S. S. S. has the additional value of being the greatest of all blood purifiers. It re-establishes the healthy circulation of the blood, rids the body of that tired, worn-out feeling, improves the appetite and digestion, and brings about a return of health to those whose systems have been weakened or depleted. S. S. S. acts more promptly and pleasantly than any other medicine, and those who are run down in health should commence its use at once. It will thoroughly purify the blood and tone up the system. S. S. S. is admirably suited for a systemic remedy because it is free from minerals; it may be used without harmful results by persons of any age, and no unpleasant effects ever follow.

BANDIT TRACEY'S END DUE TO SHOT FIRED BY YOUNG BUFFALO

"YOUNG BUFFALO"
Who is Billed as "America's Sensational Marksman"

Who shot and broke the leg of Outlaw Tracy?

That question has often been asked and discussed throughout the West, but from the most authentic accounts the man, or rather, boy, who made possible the capture of the noted outlaw, is in La Crosse playing an engagement at the Bijou theatre.

Tracy escaped June 9, 1902, from the Oregon penitentiary at Salem, and not until August 6 of the same year was he brought to bay. In that time he had traveled many thousand miles and killed nine men in his flight. On July 6 he was surrounded at Botwell, Wash., and it was at that place that Young Buffalo, then a boy, took up the chase.

Young Buffalo had always been an expert with the rifle. From his boyhood days he was never so happy as when handling firearms.

On the morning of July 7 Young Buffalo joined the posse, they traveled night and day, getting on the track of the outlaw and then losing it again. On the morning of Aug. 6 they had Tracy surrounded near Creston, Wash. They knew he was hidden in a woods near the city. A red handkerchief tied about the neck of Tracy told of his whereabouts. Suddenly the crack of a gun was heard and the handkerchief moved.

Tracy had been shot, but not killed. In the party were C. A. Straub, Dr. E. C. Laurer, Maurice Smith, J. J. Morrison, Frank Lillengreen and Young Buffalo. The latter was the first to shoot, and after that there was only one other shot. That was from Tracy's own gun as he killed himself rather than be taken alive. After examination it was found that the shot Young Buffalo had fired broke the leg of the bandit and he could go no farther. Capture would have meant lynching, and that is what Tracy feared. The reward of $8,000 was secured by the men mentioned above.

Young Buffalo does not dwell long on this episode, but he could if he wished, relate many interesting stories of that stirring pursuit, which lasted two months and kept the whole country excited.

TRUX STIRS UP DUBUQUE PEOPLE

DRAWN THEIR ATTENTION TO NEED OF HARBOR

BEST HARBOR ON THE RIVER

Motorboat Making Trip to Gulf Reaches Dubuque and Captain Gives Out Impressions

(Article No. 5 of Trux series.)

DUBUQUE, Ia., June 30.—(Special.)—Melville E. Trux, special correspondent of the Times-Journal, and Motor Boat, the New York magazine, devoted to the interests of motor-boating, arrived in Dubuque from the north, Friday night, on his trip from St. Paul to New Orleans. He came to Dubuque from McGregor, Iowa, by rail, his boat, the Thistle, being laid up for repairs at that place.

Saturday Mr. Trux spent among the launchmen and others interested in motorboating, and among those interested in the improvement of the Mississippi river and making of it a great inland waterway on which to haul the millions of tons of freight and on which the thousands, even millions of excursionists and sight-seers may take their annual outing. He is an enthusiastic river man, but with all his enthusiasm is conservative. He has traveled through the countries of Europe and has seen with his own eyes the practical side of river improvements, so is in a position to speak authoritatively of what is in store for the Mississippi, the towns and cities located on it and the territory tributary to it if it is given the proper attention.

In a conversation with a representative of the Times-Journal Saturday evening, Mr. Trux said:

Great Opportunities.
"I have never been more impressed with the opportunities offered by the Mississippi river than I have been since I started on my trip from St. Paul. I was especially impressed with the value of the river, when I reached Prairie du Chien and McGregor and found that for two whole days these towns had been without railroad connection of any kind. At the same time I noted that these two storm-stricken cities had been in regular communication by steamboat with Dubuque and other outside places. Just put this down in your book as a special instance, but it is one that may and does occur about once a year and should not be lost sight of.

Only Harbor On River.
"I note that Dubuque people are fairly well aroused to the importance of river improvements, but they need better organization, they need something to hold them together, that they may work with a unity of purpose. They need a practical business organization that will see to it that at least some of the freight and passenger business, both in and out of the city, goes by the river route.

"I note that Dubuque is especially fortunately located, for both freight and passenger business, for its possessions, so far as I know, the only harbor on the whole Mississippi river. At all other places on the river boats are forced to tie up on the river front, out where the current strikes them and where the winds have a fair sweep. But here is a natural harbor as perfect as though it had been built by man after the plans of a great architect. Here boats may tie up in still water and at the same time be protected from the winds by the great bluffs on the west and the buildings and trees on the other sides. Certainly Dubuque people and all Dubuque interests have occasion to be proud of the harbor for it is destined to bring to Dubuque a trade and a passenger traffic that no other city on the upper Mississippi river has.

Improve the Harbor.
"I would advise the people of Dubuque to urge on the proper authorities the devoting of a certain portion of the shore line of this harbor to wharf for the landing and taking on of passengers and freight. This piece of shore line should be, and probably would be given attention by the government if the people of the city would show the proper interest. Then, too, the harbor should be kept carefully dredged, it should be kept a sufficient depth in all parts to make it navigable for all kinds of river craft and at all times of the navigable season."

Mr. Trux expected that the Thistle would be repaired in time to reach Dubuque some time Sunday so that he could resume his journey down the river.

While he was in the city Saturday Mr. Trux took occasion to call on Captain Edwards and others interested in river improvement and also on many interested more especially in Dubuque. The data he gathered about the river, the harbor and Dubuque, he proposes using later in a series of special articles. Among the things he picked up may be mentioned the following:

Builds Big Boats.
The Dubuque Boat and Boller works has constructed in years past more than eighty boats of various sizes and kinds for service on the Mississippi, Missouri and other rivers, out on the briny deep and elsewhere. Among the boats constructed by this company are the Windom, a United States revenue cutter; Erickson, a United States torpedo boat; the United States light-house tender, Louise; May Stewart; Albatross, transfer boat; Pelican, transfer boat; Potomac, Mississippi river packet; Cherokee, packet; Ferdinand Herald, packet; Cavanaugh, tug; Betsy Ann, packet; Sprague, freighter; Anna Russell, packet; Robert E. Carr, packet; Sacem, Nocomas, Leota, Winoca and others. The United States dredge No. 5 was just recently completed, and No. 6 is now almost ready for commission, as are also a score of pontoons that are to be used along with these dredges. The total cost of all these boats would mount up into the millions of dollars, a number of them individually costing more than a quarter of a million of dollars. In addition to the boats that have been built in these yards, there is annually done thousands of dollars of repair work on packets, plying this part of the river.

Builds Launches.
The importance of this harbor is further set out by the fact that Mr. George Schreiner, at his boat yards at the east end of the harbor, is annually building dozens of fine launches. He now has in course of construction two exceptionally fine ones, one of which is being built at a cost of more than $5,000 for Dr. Henderson of Kansas City, Mo.

Stored in boat houses on the shores of this harbor are more than half a hundred fine power launches, with an approximate value of $15,000. This is by no means the total number of launches owned by Dubuque parties, for in the slips between the harbor and Eagle Point there is double the number stored in the harbor.

At the levee on the south side and at the mouth of the harbor the Diamond Jo Eclipse, and all other packets navigating this part of the river annually land tens of thousands of passengers and millions of dollars worth of freight.

The harbor is located convenient to railroad tracks for quick transfer from train to boat or from boat to train, so that persons desiring to take a ride on the river when they arrive in the city are close to the boat landing and need be put to but little inconvenience.

Located almost on the water's edge of the harbor are many vacant lots which are suitable for location of factories, and it seems probable now that many of them will be utilized in the near future for ore concentrating mills. There is already one of these mills located there and a number of others are already projected. This makes it convenient for the mines to ship their ore down the river or to the eastern states.

The ore to be shipped from Dubuque consists of lead and zinc ores in all their forms, lead in its purest state and zinc in the form of "jack" being the commonest forms.

These ores are found in large bodies underlying a large section of country immediately surrounding Dubuque, on both sides of the river, in Wisconsin, Illinois and in Iowa.

Already scores of mines on the Wisconsin and Illinois side are in active operation and are paying large dividends. On the Iowa side many valuable properties have been developed and would now be producing large quantities of ore daily but for the ruinously low price of ore. These mines in time will be shipping tens of thousands of tons of lead and zinc ores, and as the river is convenient it seems probable that it will be extensively used, if a channel requisite to the demands of such trade is maintained.

This harbor is made more important by the fact that the government constantly has tens of thousands of dollars worth of barges, enders, and other craft stored there, while in the winter time a whole fleet of government boats are found there. The value of this government property is approximately $100,000. The government also maintains a repair boat yard there, employing a large number of men.

The importance of this harbor caused Mr. Trux, without knowing it was contemplated by Dubuque Interests, to suggest that the government should spend $25,000 in dredging the whole harbor and rip-rapping the south shore. He states that with the harbor improved in this manner its usefulness will be doubled many times and that it will annually be visited by many packets and pleasure boats that are now never even deign to whistle for Dubuque.

It is believed Mr. Trux's visit to Dubuque will have a far-reaching effect in boosting river improvement, because it has served to call attention to the many advantages the river offers, advantages which have not been properly appreciated by the people here.

How Fortunes Are Made in Advertising

There never was a time when so much money was made, in so many advertised lines, as today.

So many advertisements are worth reading now that people have learned to read them.

Never did good advertising win so easily.

Never was poor advertising so certain to fail.

Never was ability so much in demand, nor experience so essential.

These are no times for the amateur.

Success goes today to the qualified.

That's why we spend more on our copy department than on any other part of our business.

The head of this department, Mr. Claude C. Hopkins, receives $1,000 per week.

A record salary in advertising. But Mr. Hopkins has made more money for advertisers, in more different lines, than any other man has done.

His supremacy, as a salesman in print, is unquestioned.

Mr. Hopkins supervises all of the copy which goes out from this agency.

With Mr. Hopkins are some of the ablest advertising men in America.

Men whom we have picked out, in the course of years, by the brilliant results we have seen them accomplish.

And we want more of them.

We want those men who have shown the greatest results, regardless of what we must pay them.

This department is not an expense—neither to us nor our clients.

These men make accounts grow by making them pay.

They create advertising which would never exist save for their ability.

It is cheaper for us to develop business in this way than to pay men to solicit.

Our Advisory Board

Our Advisory Board consists of sixteen men, all masters of advertising.

Each is a man of vast experience and of proved ability.

Mr. Hopkins is at the head of it.

Before this whole Board comes each campaign which we undertake for a client.

The methods, the copy, the mediums, the schemes are worked out in conference.

They are worked out by men who, in this vortex of advertising, learn something new every day.

Thus we bring to each new problem the lessons of all we have done.

Such is the price of success.

Yet we handle advertising on the usual agent's commission.

On experimental campaigns, on articles with possibilities, we frequently spend ten times our commission in working them out.

Our profit comes when the account expands, because we have made it pay.

This able service costs you no more than the service of minor men.

And think what it means if it multiplies your results.

How to Make Advertising as Safe as a Bond

Let us decide, first, if your article has possibilities. Submit your problems to our Board of sixteen men.

You are welcome to their advice.

They have advertised more things, in more different ways, than any other set of men in America.

They are likely to be right.

If what you want is possible, we will tell you how to accomplish it, and with but a trifling risk.

If it is newspaper advertising, we may suggest taking up six towns.

If magazine advertising, we may suggest a few mediums.

The experiment, perhaps, will cost us ten times our commission. But when we are done you'll know.

What we do in six towns can be done in six thousand, and the profits will be in proportion.

The law of average is sure. When you expand, you will be spending your money on an absolute certainty.

We hope that no man who has the right article can neglect such an offer.

Please think what it means. Your risk, at the most, is a trifle.

Any loss is improbable. We don't give time and attention to lines that we can't make pay.

If you succeed in those six towns, a whole country lies ready to bring you results in proportion.

That is how fortunes are made in advertising.

Not by trusting to unguided efforts. Not by trying to learn for oneself what we've learned in 35 years.

Advertising today demands all the ability, all the experience at one's command. Employ the best talent you know. Don't trust mediocrity. Success means too much.

To the Successful

We seek, too, those who are already successful.

Those who want to know what better ideas our brilliant men can work out for them.

Those who seek new view-points. Those who wish to make sure they are getting the best of their possibilities.

Our proposal to them is this:

Continue, if you wish, your present relations. But give us a few towns or a few general mediums.

Let us bring to bear, in some small way, the force of our ability. Then let the results decide who deserves your advertising.

That is the only way. Others may argue about as well as we. The field is full of able solicitors.

But there is one tribunal that never errs—the tribunal of traced results.

We refer our case there. Won't you?

Please cut out this coupon—now while you think of it. Send it to get our book "Safe Advertising"—a brilliant example of our advertising powers.

Then judge for yourself if you need us.

A Reminder

To send to Lord & Thomas, Chicago, for their book, "Safe Advertising."

Please state name, address and business. Also the position that inquirer holds in the business.

Have a rummage sale of your own

This is serious.

At this season—thoughts of new things are uppermost in one's mind—not in clothing line alone—but throughout the household a general replacement takes place. What becomes of the old stuff?

Piled away in garret or storeroom most likely—and forgotten.

Why, if you would go through the basement or storeroom of the average family today you would find an accumulation of "discards" from years back.

The strange thing is that hundreds of people want the very things for which you have no further use.

It's easy for you to find a customer, too—

Glance at the Want Columns in today's paper—see which want you can supply—then write the party.

But if you can't find a party who can use what you want to sell, make a list of what you have and put it in the Want Columns yourself.

But look at the Want Ads first.

NO REFORM IN THE PHILIPPINES

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.—Reform of the Philippine government is referred to "take" in the Philippines, according to information received at the war department. The reformers in that archipelago have recently been given involuntary membership cards in the Down and Out club.

The New York stunt of putting the kibosh on horse racing resulted in total failure. The assembly, the first ever held in the islands, declined to put a ban on the sport, and the bookies will remain undisturbed in the distant habitation. The Philippines see nothing cruel or offensive in betting on horse races, until they lose, and then the resentment is passing.

Efforts were made to put the cockpit out of commission in Manila. But the game rooster men were too influential. "Effort" made close cockpit unsuccessful; protests of indignation by American ladies, Philippine Teachers' association, 2,500 Filipinos against exploitation of Filipino vice," read a cablegram sent to President Roosevelt for aid. The pugnacity of roosters is still being put to the test, however, in the Manila cockpits.

The most alarming reform attempted was that to prohibit the importation and sale of playing cards. Not only the gamblers, but the American woman put down "her little foot" real hard, when they heard of that movement. The importation of playing cards from Spain is a considerable item commercially, and the Spanish consul general hot-footed it to Governor General Smith to protest against such action. Again the Philippine assembly prevented a horrible raid on the amusements of the islands by putting a quiets to the movement.

"Dad," began Tommy, "haven't I been real good since I've been going to Sunday school?" "Yes," answered dad, "And you trust me now, don't you?" "Yes," said dad, "Then," demanded Tommy, "what makes you keep your box of cigars hid t he same as ever?"

It must be very discouraging to a man to be very gallant to his wife in public and have her look at it as if he wasn't used to it.

FARMERS ANXIOUS FOR JULY WEATHER

OBSERVER THOMPSON PREPARES STATISTICS TODAY

MONTH IS USUALLY HOT

While Figures Are Not Intended as a Forecast They Give an Idea of July Weather

What the month of July holds in store for the country is a question that is at present bothering a good many people, especially the farmers. Whether the rain is to let up or continue to pour every other day is one of the questions. Although an accurate forecast of the coming month cannot be obtained statistics for the past thirty-five years have been compiled at the weather bureau by Observer Thompson, and although the figures given out are not to be construed as a forecast, yet they can go a long way towards showing people what can be expected during the coming month.

The mean or normal temperature for the month of July for the past thirty-five years has been 73 degrees, while the warmest of that was in 1901, with an average of 79 degrees, while the warmest of that was in 1891 with an average of 67 degrees. July 9, 1895, saw the lowest temperature, at that time it dropped to 46 degrees, while the highest was 104 degrees on July 24, 1901.

The earliest date on which first "killing" frost occurred in autumn, Sept. 21, 1889.

The average date on which the first "killing" frost has occurred in autumn is October 10.

The average date on which the last "killing" frost occurred in spring, is April 30.

The latest date on which the last "killing" frost occurred in spring was June 23, 1886.

The average precipitation has been 4.17 inches. The greatest monthly precipitation was 11.03 inches in 1883. The least was in 1894, when it amounted to .35 inches. The greatest amount of precipitation recorded in 24 consecutive hours was in July 6-7, 1879. At this time a fall of 4.70 inches was recorded.

The average number of clear days has been 13; partly cloudy, 14; and cloudy, 5. The prevailing winds have been from the south and have had an average velocity of 6.1 miles. The highest velocity was July 25, 1884, when it reached a speed of 63 miles per hour.

DEATH BED SCENE OF A WEDDING

NEENAH, Wis., June 30.—With seven hours, a wedding and death occurred in the home of J. F. Miller yesterday. At 8 o'clock Sunday night Miss Eleanor Miller and Geo. L. Sherman were married by the Rev. Mr. Reichert at the bedside of the bride's dying mother. Mrs. Miller had often expressed the wish that she could see her daughter married before she died. The bride couple had intended to get married tomorrow, but on Saturday it was noticed that Mrs. Miller's death was imminent and the minister was hurriedly summoned. After the ceremony Mrs. Miller sank into a restful sleep, dying Monday morning at 3 o'clock.

ARCHITECTS WON'T SUBMIT DRAWINGS

Messrs. Bennet & Schick & Roth have not submitted any sketches for the county school house, because the school boards refused to employ an expert to advise in the competition. Mr. Parkinson & Dockendorf submitted their plans this morning, this making three sketches submitted. Two are from out of the city. No selection has been made.

NEGRO CAN WEAR RED MEN PIN.

DANVILLE, Ill., June 29.—Circuit Judge Craig yesterday afternoon instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty in the case of Andrew Withlow, a negro charged with wearing the emblem of the Independent Order of Red Men while not a member of the order. The court held that the prosecution failed to present a certified copy of the records of the Red Men showing the emblem worn by Withlow was the official emblem of the order or of the by-laws showing that wearing of the emblem is restricted to actual members of the order.

MAN SUICIDES IN PARK.

WAUKESHA, Wis., June 30.—Mike Regan, 50 years old, unmarried, and for twenty-five years a foreman in the bottling works of Bethesda Spring company, committed suicide in Carnegie library park by shooting.

Evelyn Lamb and Marguerite Laughlin, 15-year-old girls, were seated a few yards from him. They heard the shots and thought it was Fourth of July preliminaries until they saw the man topple from the bench.

Regan lived with his widowed mother at 204 East St. Paul avenue.

GIRLS CATCH BURGLAR; FAINT.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 30.—Miss Ada Henry and Miss Anna Fry of Orangeville, near here, after cleverly playing the part of detectives and effecting the arrest of an alleged burglar yesterday, promptly swooned as soon as the handcuffs were placed on his wrists, their strength having been overcome by the strain.
